

It is our pleasure to invite you to the lecture:

*Shifts in the European Political Landscapes and Rise of Populisms –
What to Expect for the European Elections?*

given by

Thibault MUZERGUES

Europe Program Director, International Republican Institute, Vienna

on Thursday, March 21, at 15:00
at New Europe College (Plantelor 21)

Thibault Muzergues is the Europe Program Director for the International Republican Institute (IRI), a US-based NGO that advances democracy worldwide. Thibault joined IRI in 2011, after extensive experience working for political campaigns in France and the United Kingdom – he has since focused his work on political party support, leadership development and public opinion analysis. A recognized trainer for party activists, emerging leaders and politicians across Europe, but also Africa, Asia and the Middle East, Thibault writes regularly in France's major newspapers, and is also the author of La Quadrature des Classes, a French language book that explains how sociological trends have re-defined political landscapes in Europe and North America –soon to be translated in English as Class Quarters.
