

Daniar MUTALÂP is a Junior Researcher at the “Iorgu Jordan – Alexandru Rosetii” Institute of Linguistics of the Romanian Academy (Bucharest), Department of Literary Language and Philology. His main domains of research are: the ascetico-mystical literature, focusing on the “proto-Philokalic” manuscript collections in Old Romanian Culture, Romanian apocrypha, Romanian Philology and the History of the Romanian Literary Language. Papers: “Two lesser-known manuscripts of The Vision of Sofiana”, Limba română, 68, 2019, p. 421-436; “The structure and composition of a proto-philokalic Romanian manuscript from 1769”, in Lora Taseva, Roland Marti (ed.), Translations of Patristic Literature in South-Eastern Europe: Proceedings of the session held at the 12th International Congress of South-East European Studies (Bucharest, 2-6 September 2019), Editura Istros a Muzeului Brăilei „Carol I”, Brăila, 2020, p. 301-333; “The short recension of an ascetico-mystical text attributed to Evagrius Ponticus in the Old Romanian Literature”, Limba română, in press.