

Adelin-Costin Dumitru (Romania, adelin.dumitru@upb.ro) is Assistant Professor at the National University of Science and Technology POLITEHNICA Bucharest, where he teaches classes such as Introduction to Political Science, European Culture and Civilization, International Relations and Diplomacy, Political Ideologies or Ethics. Between 2024 and 2025 he was AMEROPA Fellow at New Europe College (<https://nec.ro/fellow/dumitru-adelin-costin/>). His research project aimed to defend the idea that the level of inheritance taxation ought to be decided by the people, reunited in a proper deliberative setting. His current research interests are deliberative democracy, republican political theory and the ethics of refugees. He has published articles in journals such as Perspectives on Politics, Journal of Value Inquiry, Philosophia, Acta Politica, Ethical Perspectives or Studies in Philosophy and Education.